

Now See How Large the Letters Are

Text: Galatians 6:7-11

By Rev. John C. Stennfeld

Tune Meter: CM

Suggested Tune: St. Peter

“Now see how large the letters are
I write with my own hand,”
Thus were the words Paul wrote himself
To lay down God’s command.

Be not deceived; God can’t be mocked,
We reap whate’er we sow,
And those who please their sinful flesh
Eternal life won’t know.

But to the one who sows to please
God’s Spirit and God’s son,
Eternal life he will receive
When life on earth is done.

May we, not weary, e’er become,
In doing what is good,
And to those in the house of faith
May we serve as we should.

So may we, Lord, e’er live to sow
A life that pleases you,
And do the good you’ve called us to
Till our lives here are through.
